

The ITF Summit at a Glance

The Annual Summit of the International Transport Forum is the world's largest gathering of transport ministers and the premier global transport policy event. Every May, ministers with responsibility for transport, business leaders, heads of international organisations, parliamentarians and policy makers, representatives of business associations and leading researchers meet for three days in Leipzig, Germany, to discuss the future of transport through the prism of a strategic topic.

The 2019 Summit on Transport Connectivity for Regional Integration will explore what makes transport links work and how to improve connectivity. In what ways can ever more effective digital connectedness enhance travel? How can we ensure seamless connections between the different transport modes? Where can we build bridges, real and metaphorical, for better cross-border mobility? What will connect institutions better, so they can work to improve transport connectivity together?
